

FOREWORD

My name is signed to this history, so on my shoulders rest the responsibility for any errors that may have crept into the script. However, so many have given assistance that I wish to give credit where credit is due, to the best of my ability and memory.

First, I might mention Harriet Buckles Ballard, who serves as the "eyes" for many of our joint projects. She reads many old weathered stones that I cannot, as well as faded manuscripts, being blessed with very good eyesight, and a helpful spirit.

As to the history, first might be Sarah Lowry, whose roots are so deep in Gillam soil; another is Cyril Rockwell, also a son of Gillam pioneers. It was on a research of Gillam history that his lovely wife, Celia, fell and broke her hip, and has suffered much pain as a consequence.

Mrs. Brann, an archivist of the Methodist Archives at Depauw University has been so helpful, and so patient with this amateur historian; Mrs. Margaret Paulus of Rensselaer was helpful, and lent me her records of Jasper county cemetery readings made in 1945.

Many of the stones she read then are no longer to be found.

There is Elma Rockwell Marion, and many others have been so helpful. And how many times we have wished we could interview "Aunt Sally" or Sarah Rockwell. What a wealth of information she had! And Elmer Pullins, there was another!

Anyway, thanks, everybody, I hope you enjoy this as much as I have.

INDEPENDENCE

Gillam Township

Jasper County

Indiana

Jasper county was one of several formed by the 1834-5 Indiana Legislature

The name of the county honors a Revolutionary War hero. During the battle at Charleston, S.C. on 28th. June, 1776, a Sgt. Jasper restored the fallen American flag amidst a hail of bullets. The ladies of Charleston presented him with a beautiful flag which he pledged himself to defend with his life. True to his word, he was later found dead upon the field of battle, clinging to his beloved flag.

The very first white settler in Jasper county was said to have been a William Donahue, who settled in 1832 in what was to become Gillam township. Others came by 1834.

There are no towns as such in the township, though there were two or three early settlements. Saltillo was in Sec. 10, where the Pinkamink flows from the township into the Iroquois river. A bridge at that point served an early Post road which ran from Winamac to White Post (an early Post Office and stage stop) and to Rensselaer, Williamsport and Bunkum, on the state line. Josiah Walden served as a carrier on this early post road. Native of Dearborn county, he brought his family to Pulaski county, and purchased land from the Wabash and Erie Canal Company, on the present site of Medaryville. He later moved on to Kansas, leaving his wife, Sarah (Bare) and daughter Mariah, buried in the old Medaryville Cemetery.

Davissonville was platted by Moses & Lewis Davisson in 1850. Located on the Pinkamink in Section 33, a mill was erected here and a small village laid out. Then a Mr. Haddox operated a distillery and it was sometimes called Haddoxtown. Sometime, it acquired another name, Tailholt. Tradition has it that a horse fell through the bridge, and a group of men gathered to extricate the animal. Some of the men were instructed to take a "tail holt" and heave! Thus the horse was freed and the town acquired another name. One wonders if James Whitcomb Riley knew of this incident and was inspired to write the poem: "The Little Town of Tailholt." (History of Francesville - Bechdolt)

In more recent time, there was the beginning of a town, Asphaltum, which came about when oil was struck on or near the William Hershman farm in 1901. This was in Sec. 28, about 6 1/2 miles west of Medaryville. In the excitement, there quickly sprang up a hotel, a few stores, and a refinery was started. Then the bubble burst. It was found that the oil was not in sufficient quantity to warrant continued operations. Thus died another town, and another dream.

It is likely that the early settlers of Gillam township descended from early immigrants who fled Europe to escape religious persecution. Religion was very much a part of their lives, and a source of strength in surmounting the great difficulties of pioneer life in a wild, rugged land.

At that time, early preachers were, of necessity, circuit riders, who came riding through the forest and over the prairie. The Catholic priest was an early comer, but the Methodist seemed to have a firm grip in this section. When one of these preachers came riding in, people gathered for services, in homes at first, then in early log school houses until regular church buildings could be erected.

The Independence church was organized in 1836 in the log cabin of John Gillam. Records of the Methodist church reveal that a Rev. Hackalieh Vrendenburgh had been assigned to serve in this area, riding a circuit out of Monticello. Some historians gave his name as H. Brandenburgh, which we find in a history of Jasper county, the Battey 1883 book. One can readily see how the name could be misspelled. (He was b 3-10-1790 d 1-23-1869, entered the ministry in 1820, serving 49 years)

The very first members of Independence church were: John Gillam and his wife, Mary; George Culp and his wife Mary; Thomas Randle and his wife Nancy; Sarah McJimsey and Maria Gillam. The first house of worship was of hewed logs, erected in 1849, near the present church. It had glass windows, shingle roof, with lath overhead. The plaster was put on overhead, as the plasterer could not make it stick from below. The first sermon was preached by Rev. George Guild, head of a pioneer family, with the congregation sitting on the floor sleepers of the unfinished building.

The present building was built in 1872 at a cost of $2,400, a white frame building about 30' x 50', with a belfry.

The first parcel of land was deeded to the church Dec. 27, 1847, from John Lane and his wife Elizabeth, to church trustees: William Comer, James Query and John Query, for use as a meeting house and burying ground.

Deed Book 2, page 176. In Section 12, a plot 9 poles by 17 poles.

The 2nd. deed was dated May 21, 1872 from Henry Poisel and his wife Mary to the church trustees: George Mason, Joseph G. Hunt, Samuel McCullough and John Query. A plot in Section 12, 25 rods by 6 rods, as a place of Divine worship of the M.E.Church. For a consideration of $23.75. Bk.22, pg. 491.

The third deed is dated March 31, 1885 from Henry Poisel and wife Mary to the church trustees (not named) for consideration of $20.00, a plot in Sec. 12, 18 rods by 9 rods. Book 84, page A6.

An important part of the early church was the Camp Meeting or Revival. Families packed bedding and food supplies in a wagon, and came for several days, It was a great time for visiting, perhaps weddings, and the old time hymns rolled across the prairie! The evening preaching called the sinner to repent his sins. Methodists were then known as "shouting Methodists." The Amens and the Hallelujahs rolled out, and it was a time of great spiritual renewal.

That pioneer church was very active in its day. There was a large Sunday School, an active Ladies Aid, and a major part of the church was its annual Homecoming. It was an all-day affair, usually held on a Sunday in August. Former preachers would be asked to return for preaching, people who had moved away were invited to join in the fellowship, and a bountiful basket dinner.

We could mention any number of outstanding persons in connection with this church. It would be hard to select the most outstanding, for fear of missing someone. We will take the liberty of giving one example of an outstanding Sunday School teacher. "Aunt" Lizzie Faris was an unmarried lady who taught school for seventeen years, giving it up on the death of her sister, Mrs. Elmer Pullins, to raise the young Pullins children. Aunt Lizzie was known as a stern disciplinarian. For many years she taught a large Sunday School class of boys or young men at Independence. When she detected their youthful "sins", she would line up the offenders and lecture them so severely that the tears would run! She was but one whose stern lessons, administrated with love, stayed with those young men as they grew up and left home to make their way in the world.

The church building was remodeled and modernized in 1948. A basement was added, with kitchen, rest rooms, and dining room. The upstairs was given new furniture, carpeting and new hymnals. A dedication was held in honor of all this at the annual Homecoming, 28th. August, 1949. Rev. Gilbert Piker was the minister in charge, serving out of Medaryville church; also present was Claude Young, the District Supt. Elmer Pullins was chairman of the meeting.

By 1976 there were but a few families left in the congregation. They made the difficult decision to close their beloved church, feeling that they could be of better service by joining with other church groups. The building stood empty for a time, until 1977, the Medaryville church made the decision to attempt to have the building declared a Historic Landmark. A committee was appointed with Nelson Coburn as chairman. The Annual Homecomings were revived and well attended. Money was raised for repair and maintenance of the building.

Such was the religious fervency of this old pioneer church that eighteen (18) young men were said to have become ministers from this church, and the Gillam church (1900-1930). For many years a plaque hung in the sanctuary of the Independence church with the names of those eighteen ministers. The plaque disappeared for a time, but has now been recovered and restored to like new condition. The men listed:

Guild, George, and his sons Thomas and Daniel Guild.

Sebring, John

Faris, Charles

Culp, Everett

Mason, George, Thomas and Ed or Edward Mason.

Hart, Sylvester

Rogers, David A.

Markin, Thomas

Campbell, William and his sons Horace, Frank (Frances) and Charles.

Postill, Charles

Rockwell, Cyril

A great effort has been made to obtain a biography of each of these men. It was an easy task for those who served in the northern part of Indiana. Some left the state, and it has been more difficult in such case, some have proved impossible.

But what a glorious heritage for one small pioneer church!

INDEPENDENCE CEMETERY

West Section

From an abstract of title belonging to Ray and Helen Steele, the present owners of the land, we find that this section of cemetery was never the property of the Independence church. It was deeded Feb. 26, 1868 by Henry Poisel and Mary, his wife, to the Trustees of Gillam Township, Jasper county, Indiana and their successors, forever, for a consideration of $30.00. The trustees were: John H. Robinson, Asa C. Prevo and George J. Freshour. The tract of land contained an acre and 83/100, situated in the SE 1/4, NE 1/4 of 11-30-5, commencing at a stone on the section line between Sections 11 & 12; at a point 22 rods south from the northeast corner of the described 40 acres of land; thence south 18 rod; west 13.5 rod; north 18 rod; thence east 13.5 rod to the place of beginning.

The above described tract of 40 acres is traced from ownership by the U.S. of America through many owners, including: John and Rachel Querry; William and Mary Querry; William and Mary Robinson; James & Elizabeth Pollock; Michael and Catherine Griffin to the State of Indiana and Land Patent for the Wabash and Erie Canal Company Lands, by James Whitcomb, Governor. John Miller; Paris and Elizabeth Robinson; George W, Thompson; Calvin and Sarah Epperson; Silas and Esther Taylor; John and Mary Mulholland; Thomas McCullough, and others...before being deeded to Gillam township for use as a burying ground.

There was at one time a one-room school house on the northeast corner of the 40 acre plot; with a space between the school and the cemetery.

Historical Biog:

William Robinson came to Gillam township, Jasper county in 1838, and was thus one of the earliest settlers. He was a tall man, of imposing appearance. During the War of the Rebellion, his sons Michael, William and Thomas were in the Battle of Gettysburg, at which time William was shot in the face by a sniper. He, on hearing the news, donned his tall hat and long coat and took a train to the hospital where his son lay wounded. On being told it would be out of the question to move the son to a hospital where he could be better cared for, he went into action, and had him on a train that evening. It is said he twirled his Masonic charm which he wore on his watch chain, which must have helped. On another occasion, word came that his son Thomas was in an army prison, after being involved with a buddy in an altercation with an officer, and Thomas came to his aid. The father immediately entrained for Washington, D.C. where he went directly to his Congressman, Schuyler C. Colfax. Mr. Colfax took him to see the President, Abraham Lincoln. Mr. Lincoln asked: "What do you wish from me, Mr. Robinson?" The reply: "Mr. President, I have three sons in the Union Army. I sent them to fight, not to rot in prison." It is related that Pres. Lincoln reached for a pen and wrote out an order, directing the military to restore Thomas to active duty with his regiment.

It is evident that Mr. William Harrison Robinson was a man of strong character!

The Sebring family originated in Holland. Being persecuted for their religious beliefs, several sons of Roelof Lukassen Sebring emigrated to America. Jan Roeloffsen Sebring came in 1660. Descendants of the family spread across the face of America, Long Island, New Jersey, Penn., Ohio, and Kentucky, thence to Indiana.

Achilles Sebring, born 1811, died in Ky. 1837. He was married to Sidney L. Hynes (1815 - 1883) she is buried in the Welch cemetery, in Jasper county, Indiana. They had children, Mary, Ellen, John, Anson, William and Margaret Sebring. Although Achilles was 50 years of age at the outbreak of the Civil War, he enlisted, and died of sickness in Ky. 1862, John also enlisted in Jan. 1862 and was discharged a year later for disability . He re-enlisted in 1864 and was mustered out in July 1865. As result of his war sickness, he suffered from ill health the rest of his life, but did live to quite a ripe old age.

While quite young, John became a member of the Methodist church and was licensed as an exhorter. He devoted a long lifetime to Christianity, and preached in several churches in Indiana, finally retiring due to ill health. He did operate a harness shop in Medaryville for a time. He was a sportsman and like to go hunting with his friends. He was a member of the C.L.Guild Post, Grand Army of the Republic in Medaryville.

John Sebring was often called on for preaching funeral sermons and performing wedding ceremonies. No gravestone was ever placed on his grave or that of his wife. However members of Metamonong Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution did place a bronze marker there in honor of this well loved, venerable man of God.

ROBB, John 11-14-1792 9-26-1876 WAR OF 1812

1 Regiment (Caldwell's) Kentucky Militia

Early in the 18th. century, brothers James, William and John Robb emigrated from northern Ireland (where they were known as Scotch-Irish) to America, and made a settlement at Carlisle, Penn.

The line we are interested in here, comes from the above John Robb; thus: son Thomas married a 2d. cousin, Elizabeth Robb. and in 1800 with their son, William, moved to Erie county, Penn. In 1808 the family moved to Washington Co., Ky., in 1818 to Brown county, Ohio, near Ripley. They came to Warren county, Indiana in 1830. Ever a roamer, Thomas died in DeKalb county, Illinois in 1850. His first wdfe had died in Ohio, he married 2d. to Mrs. Sarah Friel, who survived him for a short time. Thomas and Elizabeth had children: twins James and John, William, Thomas, Robert, Mary, Ann and Elizabeth. James served in the regular army for five years and in the War of 1812 under General Andrew Jackson, and later took part in the Seminole war. JOHN was in the War of 1812, fighting under General William H. Harrison. Oliver & Herbert Todd Faris. He was a school teacher, a farmer, and was county commissioner at the time the county court house was built in Rensselaer. He served all through the Civil War, being promoted from Private to Lieutenant. In his pension papers we find a story of a terrible experience that illustrates the suffering the soldiers suffered from sickness and hardships. On New Year 1864 he was in charge of a group of men enroute to their homes on furlough. They were thoroughly soaked in rain, then placed in a cattle car of a train, with no protection. The temperature dropped to a very low degree so their clothing froze to their bodies, their boots to their feet. On the slow journey north, it was January 8th. before he arrived at his home, and by this time he was very ill, and was unable to return to duty for some time. He suffered after effects the rest of his life. (History of C.L.Guild Post, G.A.R., Medaryville, Ind.)

medical care and suffered the effects the rest of his life.
He married Mary Bell in Gillam twp. Dec.5, 1861. She drew a widow's pension of $30 a month after his death. We know they had a son David and from census records we know there were at least two daughters. David Sr. was involved in a fight in Medaryville May 3, 1881, in which the other man (Daniel Swisher) died within a few days. He was brought to trial on a murder charge but found not guilty because of a plea of self defense. (See "One Hundred Years of Hoosier Living 1853 - 1953 a history of the town of Medaryville)

BARNHILL, David, son of David and Mary Bell Barnhill. He is buried beside his parents in an unmarked grave. He was a life long resident of the Medaryville community. For many years he operated a threshing outfit, going from farm to farm to thrash out the grain that had been earlier cut, bundled and shocked in the field. He was a very tall, slender man, and wore a large "cowboy" hat.

WILLIAMS, Elmer C. 1862 - 1943

Minnie L. 1869 - 1951 (m 4-20-1893 Jasper Co., Ind)

The grandfather of Elmer Williams, Benjamin, was a pioneer of Ky., and settled early, where Louisville now stands. He served in the War of 1812. As there were frequent outbursts of Indian warfare, the pioneers built fort for the safety of their families. Since Mrs. Williams refused to leave her home, Mr. Robinson hired a huge negro to protect his family in his absences.

They had ten children, including Richard, who became the father of Elmer. The family moved to Morgan county, Indiana and "took up" 400 acres of land, and it was here that Benjamin died at the age of 80 years, his wife at the age of 90 years.

Richard was born in Ky. in 1818. He was married in Morgan Co., Ind to Delphina Stout, daughter of Allen and Sally Brewer Stout. Allen Stout was the son of Samuel and Rachel Hall Stout. Samuel Stout was of an old Colonial family of N.C. He was a soldier in the Revolutionary War. His wife Sallie Brewer was native of Randolph Co., N.C. and dau. of William and Elizabeth Brewer.

Richard and Delphina Stout Williams lived for a time in Martinsville, Ind., where he was twice elected county sheriff. In Feb. 1861 he moved his family to Pulaski county, Ind and settled one mile south of Medaryville. Here Elmer C. Williams was born on Feb, 1, 1862, other children were: Dayton H., Horace E., and Minnie Williams. Richard died Sep. 7, 1880.

Elmer was married April 20, 1893, Rensselaer, Ind. to Minnie L. dau. of William Harrison and Jemima Faris Robinson. Their children were Roy A., Lorena and Ralph Williams. Elmer served as township trustee, was member of the Odd Fellows Lodge.
